Market Overview - RMB: Trade war tension with China data\* by Benjamin Tin

Date & Time: 3rd September 2019 10:30 SGT

China's yuan was set for its worst daily fall in nine months on May 13th 2019 as trade negotiations between the U.S. and China ended after President Donald Trump raised tariffs on Chinese goods. The yuan has fallen for six consecutive days and some analysts believe it will breach 7 per dollar in coming months, the level last seen during the global financial crisis. The world's two biggest economies appear deadlocked. Investors are watching to see how Chinese policymakers plan to offset the impact of the stiffer tariffs on both the economy and financial markets, analysts at Citi said. In this session, we will learn more on the market insight and outlook.

Goals: Market overview, CNY devaluation stages, drivers of RMB, PBOC easing trends, measures implemented, market indicators.

Market Overview - China Liquidity Indicators and Rates by Benjamin Tin

Date & Time: 6th September 2019 10:30 SGT

Interest rate spikes in June and December of 2013 signaled the Central Bank's determination to cut alarming levels of debt. China's Central Bank started experimenting with unconventional measures to manage interest rates to help keep shadow banking activities in check. The Central bank's governor Zhou Xiaochuan said that since November 2014, the People's Bank of China has brought rates down consistently and it will continue to implement a prudent monetary policy. He also said that the bank is intending to keep liquidity conditions "reasonable and adequate" and taking steps to support the economy. In this session, we will be using Eikon's China Price Discovery App to look at the liquidity and rates indications.
